We brew the coffee that gets you going, and power the fitness tracker on your morning run.

We're in the car you drive to school, and the smartwatch that gets you to class on time.

We're in the tablet you use to take notes in the study hall, and the network that you use to upload your assignments.

We're in the gaming console you enjoy before "hitting the books", and the 4K TV the brings your video games to life.

We're in the really cool drone that you fly around campus, and in the smartphone that you use to control it.
